vote november 3; sss choice

ADLAI E. STEVENSON

The editors and staff of the JJC Subterranean Side Show wholeneartedly endorse Adlai E. Stevenson in the November 3 senatorial election. His opponent, Ralph Smith, has consistantly showed demagogary and bad taste, in addition to plain old-fashioned Agnewesque stupidity. His record on Haynsworth, Carswell, defense spending, as well as his blind following of the Nixon war doctrine marks him as yesterdays loser. Stevenson, on the other hand, shows a bright promise and a positive outlook. Faculty and students eligible to vote are urged to vote for Stevenson (and those who cant vote should urge their Mommys and Daddys to vote, as they color their Ralph T. Smith coloring book).

CCC MEETS THURS.

The Cultural Cinema Club will meet on Thursday, Oct. 29, at 2 pm in Spoon River room 106. Election of CCC officers will take place, and a student made film, "Old People, Old Friends", by Nancy Cissne, which won last years CCC movie award, will be shown.

movie review: "teenage vampires from mars!"

By Mike Wilhelm

Many intelligent movie goers, while having quite a knowledge of the better American films, consistently ignore what is probably the greatest source of meaningful art in the world of film today, our friend of the far east, Japan.

Outstanding of Japanese film makers are the husband and wife team of Otia Hashiukawa and Alto Hashiukawa and their latest effort "Teenage Vampires From Mars" is probably their most meaningful accomplishment.

I consider the plot of this film to be quite new and interesting. Three male and three female teenagers are all that remains on Mars of an Earth colony which was stranded there by a nuclear war. Two Japanese astronauts are sent to rescue them but five of the six surviving colonists are acting letter to editor---on juco apathy

Dear editor,

Re: "Apath,? Or Just Disgust?"

My applause to your mockery of Juco's "freshman fun week" and "Wolves-beat-State homecoming activities." That these two activities deserve criticism is undeniable, participation in both was atrocious, due, perhaps as you suggest, to a student body which "consists of ignorant and indifferent beings." However, where does that leave you and your Side Show cohorts?

Presumably, you "freaks" did not participate because you felt the activities were "tripe", "good clean fun in the spirit of Mickey Rooney and Elisha Cook Jr." Apparently todays "good clean fun" is political and social satire, as exemplified in the Side Show. Let's think, though, how many people actively participate in the publication of this controversial news sheet? How many ever read it? How many even bother to respond or react to its articles? I suppose you chalk it all up to those "ignorant and indifferent beings."

It may suprise you pec-

This column may be more aptly titled for this weeks subject matter than we intended. The Chicago Daily News last week reported that Chicago's Union stock yards will close down in February and new stock yards will be built...you guessed it...right nearby Joco. The Daily News reported that "the exchange has already purchased a 33 acre site for the new stockyards at the intersection of I-55 and I-60, about 7 miles southwest of Joliet."

The staff of the Side Show can only snicker at the news (seeing how we wont be here when they're finally built), but are mildly concerned in the fact that we feel that there is enough 'horse manure' being spread throughout this area already. (MOSTLY BY US!)

strangely and are quite pale. The other survivor, the lovely Yamita, played by Kamita Hashiukawa, quickly falls in love with Arnold, one of the astronauts who is played by Atimo Hashiukawa. When they finally meet alone, Yamita can only whisper that she knows a great secret. The next day Yamita has come down with the mysterious disease, and the rescue ship, which had been mysteriously sabatoged, is finally repaired.

That night as Arnold makes final preparation for the next days blast-off, he captures a mysterious old man trying to sabatoge the ship. This old man, when he finally talks, reveals that the disease which affects the six colonists, and which will effect anyone who touches Martian soil, is vampirism, which destroyed the ancient Martian civilization and will destroy Earth if the astronauts return.

At the closing scene of the picture, we see Arnold, now a vampire, and his new bride Yamita, looking longingly but hopelessly at the Earth through a telescope, and drinking a strange red liquid.

This film is obviously full of deep meaning, but in an interview the director would only say that it actually dealt with the Dane's centuries old exploration of Greenland.

I'm sure that everyone who has read this would be interested in seeing this picture. It is showing at the Free China Information Agency in Brisbane, Australia, and the Y. of C. basement in Billings, Montana.

ple to hear that many others on this campus, including student leaders chalk it up that way too. They agree that a lot of apathetic responses are due to "ignorant and indifferent beings." Guess what? You have something in common with the "leaders." Maybe recognizing that fact and acting accordingly, i.e. together, on some projects might enlighten and activate a few more students. If you were to contact some student leaders and participate in some of their "good clean fun", maybe they would reciprocate. There may be some time left for fun as well as games. Sincerely,

Pete Neff
